"MEMORIES
ARE MADE
THIS"

FORWARD

The musical theme was chosen because as music changes from year to year we change, too. From the minuet to the Charleston, and on down through the years to the invigorating "Rock and Roll". In our own lives we too have grown from the 1st grade and "Rock A Bye Baby" to our last and final yeear. Yes, our "MEMORIES ARE MADE OF THIS".

"IT HAD TO BE YOU"

Dedication

In appreciation for the interest and encouragement exercised in the past six years, we the Senior Class, dedicate the Golden Haze of 1957 to our sponsor, Miss Imogene Mavis.

MR. DEATON, OUR PRINCIPAL

Throuh our four years in high school Mr. Deaton has helped us to conquer our troubles and inspired us to our triumphants. We Seniors wish to express our sincere thanks for the assistance given by Mr. Deaton from our "Green Years" to our "Graduation Days".

MR. ROUCH OUR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

In this, his 24th year of continuous service, we wish to thank Mr. Rouch for his helpfulness. Mr. Rouch cooperates with our school, offering helpful advice concerning our many problems.

MR. CUMBERLAND, OUR TRUSTEE

The Senior Class of 1957 wish to extend their thanks to Mr. Cumberland for the work he has done in making the school better and the surroundings prettier.

"IT ISN'T REAL"

I couldn't help reflecting, as I laid aside the morning issue of the World Times, that only seven years ago Paul Murphy had graduated with the class of '57, now here he was, the editor of this world-wide syndicated newspaper. "I wonder how his classmates have fared." So saying, I picked up my hat, went out, and was about to hail a cab when a Fard Flathead V8 hot rod, complete with dual manifold, headers, and special ignition pulled up beside me and the driver asked if he could take me someplace. "Charles Samer!" I exclaimed

"Yeah. I guess I can't leave cars alone," he grinned. As I settled myself in the front seat I asked him if he knew anything about his classmates. Not much. I do know Donna Clark and Karel Holkingsworth have the K & D Dress Shop thain specializing in petit sizes. Norma Sicks married and is still living in Akron."

As we came to the middle of the block, a shapely, honeyhaired damsel wearing dark glasses turned the corner ahead of us I had gotten a glumpse of her and ordered Charles to speed up and catch her before she disappeared. This woman was Lik Carla Schillen, the tenown actress (from Vienna, she had told reporters) who disliked fans and "wahnted to be lef alon"." I had seen her pictures in the purper this morning, the face was faminar and I was positive I knew her from somewhere, but I couldn't recall when or where Her hurrying footsteps were no match for the car. though, and we were beside her in a matter of seconds Opening the car door, I asked her if perhaps she would care to ride Instead of tiring herself walking "Aw, turn blue" she replied and ducked into an alley and was soon out of sight. Then it came to me! Lik Carla was none other than Lily Carol Skillen back at AHS "From Vienna yet"

Back in the car, I turned on the radio and was nearly dealened by an advertisement for Smoker Smoked Sausages. Eithe was doing very well with his business, thanks to Barbara Shriver Johnson, a west-coast housewife who had sold him her sausage recipe for a large sum of money. With that money she had backed a struggling clothes designer, now J.I. Ault was accidimed by Jashion experts all over the world. But she wasn't exclusively a clothes designer She illustrated books and was currently in Madrid with an exhibition of her charcoal drawings. Just then I remembered a small item in the morning paper saying she would return today, so Charles and I raced to Gilbert's airport (John had struck oil while digging around and had donated part of his militions for the airport)

As the passengers left the plane, they regretfully said their farewells to the pretty stewardess. Helen Huppert, and the pilots, Larry Knieg and Ronnie Jones. Finally, Jill peared and after a flurry of greetings, I asked her what she knew about her classinates. "Everything," she answered and rattled oil in rapid succession that (1) Joycelyn Moore had gone to Paris to study music but was distracted by a French sculptor. Now she's married and giving sculpturing lesson.

(2) Don Fellers was a matriador in Spain. (3) Bill Ward was a diplomatic courier and she had met him in Maarid where they had lunched together and exchanged information about their classinates.

While on a mission to Britain, Bill had met Rex Eler who had lived so long in London that he spake with a clipped British accent — a charming combination with that red hair and regal name. Then flying to Africa, Bill had met Leroy Kirk who was on missionary duty there. He had directed Bill to Bob Hattery's lodgings (Bob was an explorer and big-game hunter along with his triend, 'Jack'). The two men had kinched together and Bill informed Bob that Becky Oliver, having become disgusted with civilization and its frustration, had gone to Haiti and become a 'calypso-voodo dance'.

Having told Charles and me all she knew Jill went on her way Before leaving the airport. I picked up a box of Genavee's Gooey Goodles to take home Again I turned on the car radio and was immediately enveloped by the husky honey-dripping voice of Horace Barnes, radio's "Lonesome." I couldn't tolerate him, though, and switched to another station just in time to hear Mike Colbert's jazz band consisting, among others, of Oliver Powell on sax and John Ramsey on trumpet.

Charles took me home and as I stepped out, he said, "Oh I lorget to tell you, Helen Wood had gone out West to become a cowgirl in Colorado" "Thanks," I said and hurried into the house. I would really have to rush if I intended to catch the early movie. Soon, I was dressed and on my way to see Ronnie Kuhn and Marcia Mered, the in the most passionate remake of "Camille" since Gilbert and Garbo Signed Becky Oliver

"EVERYTHING I HAVE IS YOURS"
